

THANK YOU FOR PARTNERING WITH US.

2019 is shaping up to be an exciting year for The Village in light of Multiply. Your support has allowed us to invest in missions around the world and make great strides toward commissioning healthy autonomous churches here in DFW and beyond. We are incredibly grateful for your generosity, and we want to give you an update on all that the Lord has carried out through your giving.

Multiply is: transitioning our remaining campuses into autonomous churches, planting churches, and increasing our local and global missions involvement.

MULTIPLY AT THE CAMPUSES

We long to see the name of Jesus lifted high, both in our local area and across the globe. Each of The Village's five campuses have been laboring toward that goal, and there is still plenty of work to do. Here's what's been happening across our church:

Flower Mound

While we look toward the future of Multiply and the eventual transition of The Village's four other campuses, the Flower Mound campus has been considering what it will look like to replant as a local church. With a vision of increasing investment in making holistic disciples, showing hospitality to our community, and training up and sending out missionaries and church planters, the Flower Mound elders located a piece of property near the current campus where a new building could be designed that would provide an opportunity to better realize our mission. On March 31, Covenant Members in Flower Mound voted to approve the purchase of this property by a margin of 93%.

Plano

The Plano campus has been preparing for transition for a while now, and officially voted in January to become a local church later in the year. In April, Plano moved to local preaching that is more contextualized to their people and area. In August, the Plano campus will transition fully to Citizens Church, a local, autonomous body.

Dallas Northway

Transition is fast approaching for the Dallas Northway campus as well. In August, Shea Sumlin was welcomed as the new campus pastor, and the path toward becoming a local autonomous church became clear. The campus transitioned to local preaching in January, taking a big step toward autonomy. On April 7, Covenant Members in Dallas voted on a transition that will take place later in the year, when they would become Northway Church. This vote passed with over 97% approval.

Fort Worth

The Fort Worth campus also welcomed a new pastor last year. Dave Bruskas and his family moved to North Texas from Albuquerque to help shepherd the Fort Worth campus and begin dreaming and planning for campus transition over the next few years.

Southlake

The Southlake campus is looking forward to transition in the coming years, and is currently considering how to become a place that trains and sends out more church planters and missionaries. In addition, the campus has been thinking and praying about future building needs, including a new Next Gen space.

WHAT IS THE 100 UPG COOPERATIVE?

Multiply is about more than campus transition; global missions play a huge part in our vision. That's why we're partnering with two other churches—The Austin Stone Community Church and Redeemer Church in Lubbock—and three organizations—Frontiers, Reliant and Launch Global—to pursue a church planting movement among 100 unreached people groups (UPGs). The 100 UPG Cooperative will coordinate to recruit, train, send and support apostolic missionaries to catalyze new church plants around the world. We're excited to be a part of this important work and ask for your prayer and support as we step into what the Lord has for us.

CONTINUE SUPPORTING THE LORD'S WORK

While we have been blessed to play a role in what He's doing in the world, this work is the Lord's. We ask that you would continue to pray that His will would be done as we labor to make disciples in DFW and beyond. Would you also consider giving generously this year to support Multiply and all that God is doing through it?
